

ROTARY DISC PUMP

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A rotary disc pump for pumping fluid materials, comprises a housing having a front and a back wall forming a chamber with a generally coaxial inlet in the front wall and a generally tangential outlet, an impeller is mounted co-axially within the chamber and comprises a shaft mounted in the back wall of said housing and having an outer end extending from the housing and an inner end within the chamber, at least a first circular disc mounted on the inner end of the shaft, and at least a second disc is mounted in axially spaced relation to the first disc and has an opening in the center thereof, and a conical member extends co-axially of the shaft from the first disc toward the second disc.